PARTY BUSTERS.

Last week the Alamogordo News celebrated the fifth anniversary of its existence by reading the riot act to a small herd of aspiring individuals who want to pose as Republican bosses in Otero county. For some time the News has been quietly enduring the most disreputable treatment from a number of men who posed as party leaders, but when forbearance ceased to be a virtue it gave the little "bosses" a well-merited castigation.

There is no better weekly newspaper in the Territory than the Alamogordo News. It is ten years ahead of its town and county, and the Republican party which it represents so ably and so well, ought to take pride in supporting it. But, instead of doing this, a number of small-bore politicians, who pose as self-constituted leaders, possessed of more egotistical vanity than wisdom, have been carrying on a mean, assassin-like warfare on the News, because the paper would not act as their personal organ by booming their ambitions and selfish designs each week. And it is a significant fact, too, that some who are only fresh from Democratic pastures and who never supported a Republican ticket in a campaign, are the most venomous enemies of the News and the most active in trying to deprive it of patronage, because it would not hold them up as its gods, direct from the Democratic through, who ought to be worshipped.

The News showed its good sense and judgement by refusing to act as the organ of any Republican, or coe of alleged Republicans, at the expense of other and, perhaps, wiser Republicans. A party newspaper that will prefer one Republican above another Republican, and act as a personal advancement organ for an individual, or clique, is an enemy of the party and a breeder of discord. The duty of a wisely conducted Republican newspaper is to treat all Republicans alike, until the convention selects the party candidates. Just because a man, or small coterie of men, is immune to the most ordinary rudiments of modesty, and possessed of an insane ambition to pose as the great political IT, with a divine right to rape the party preserves, is no valid reason why a self-respecting newspaper that is loyal to true party interests should dance attendance on the whims of such mental cripples in real party usefulness.

The News, or any other well-conducted political newspaper, does more for its party than its party can possibly do for it. It does many hundreds of dollars' worth of work for its party each year for which it receives no direct recompense. It antagonizes profitable business it would receive under different conditions, and worse than anything else, it incurs the personal enmity of many who would be its friends otherwise—all because of its loyalty to party loyalty. Realizing all this, the great masses of its party become strongly attached to the consistent party paper, and they never hesitate to aid it in resounding justice when patient endurance has become exhausted.

If the old and true Republicans of Otero county are wise, they will recognize the value of the News.

dislike the actions of the hungry and thirsty who are bent on a newspaper. It has been a test of strength to the party in that county. Self-respecting Republicans do not take kindly to political bosses and domineering arrogance, and those who display an uncontrollable itching for practicing these long-earned attainments ought to retire to the Democratic party, where they belong.

It may be possible that there are other places in the Territory, besides Alamogordo, to which these few gentle remarks may be applicable.—Las Vegas Republican.

The above is the opinion of the best Republican newspaper in the northern part of the territory. It is evident that THE NEWS stands high with reputable newspaper men.

IS NOW A REPUBLICAN.
Gus Hunter, of Santa Fe, writes the following letter to the New Mexican: "It is well known to my fellow citizens here and throughout Santa Fe county that since my majority I have been a Democrat and have worked and voted for that party. However, seeing the prosperity that has blessed New Mexico during the past three years and finding that all the evil prophecies made by Mr. Bryan and the Democratic speakers and papers during the 1896 campaign, have not been fulfilled but quite the contrary have been absolutely disproved by the facts as they exist, I have concluded that the principles and platform advocated by the Democrats are wrong and not tenable and I hereby and therewith declare for the future my adherence and support of the Republican administration which has done so much for the country at large and under which New Mexico is doing well and is enjoying a good honest and peaceable administration."

"Country papers would be of vastly greater merit than they are now if, instead of filling so many columns with junk from the plate matter foundries and with belated condensations of telegraphic dispatches cut from the nearest city paper, they would devote themselves to the collection and intelligent interpretation of local news. That is what the farmers and villagers of to-day want of their local papers, and of it many such papers give them next to none at all."—New York Times.

The extension of the El Paso & North-eastern to a junction with the Liberal (Kan.) branch of the Rock Island is only a question of the arrangement of preliminaries before active construction work will begin. It is stated upon good authority that W. C. Hitchcock, who is construction foreman for Contractor Good, is arranging for laborers in El Paso to work on the construction of this extension. Just where the extension will leave the present line of the North-eastern is not made public yet.—Ex.

Now that the county ticket has been nominated, THE NEWS comes down off the fence and boldly expresses the hope that—the best man may win.

It will be found a hard matter for a Republican ticket to win in a Democratic county without the united support of the party.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Cuterville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by W. E. Warren & Co.

ENGLAND'S RESOURCES.

Sir Richard Temple regards them as equal to any country.
In the June number of THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW the Right Hon. Sir Richard Temple, formerly governor of Bombay, gives a most impressive account of the vast possessions and the numerous points of vantage held by Great Britain in Asia, illustrating the means by which she exercises practical domination over a large part of that continent. Sir Richard points out also how certain recent movements of some of the European powers, which have revealed a purpose of challenging or weakening her position there, impose upon her the necessity of a policy of watchfulness. Her resources he regards as equal to any emergency. He says:

"Whether the present is a fitting time for other powers to try any contests with Britain is a question for them to determine. Britain is at the acme of her puissance. Never has she displayed such resourcefulness as she has recently displayed in South Africa, and yet her resources are very far from exhausted. Indeed they have not even yet been adequately called forth. She is still ready to meet any combination that could reasonably be anticipated, and if the present war shall be speedily terminated then she will have forces available in a strength never before equaled in all her eventful history. She can afford to regard other nations quite complacently, whatever they may say, realizing what her rights are throughout the world and knowing well how to guard them."

Fashion's Echoes.

A loosely woven nun's veiling, somewhat resembling that old favorite "bunting," will be a useful and pleasant summer dress fabric, being light and cool.

The sunbonnet is to be an established style of the summer and appears in lawns, plaques, ginghams and wash silk.

Some very stunning costumes are made in white mohair.

Knife plaited skirts are popular in thin silks and canvases.

Handkerchief waists are in high favor. Jaunty little lace boleros give the needed touch of style to plain suits.

Silk petticoats are trimmed with accordion plaited flounces.

The empire skirt of silk, mull or chiffon promises to be a fad of the summer.

The yoke back, so popular last season, is hardly seen on the new skirt waists.

Gulphure blouses will be much worn, in black over white, with a colored satin collar band and buttons imitating some precious stone, preferably turquoise.

The English Animal.

Teacher—Now, Johnny, you know the eagle stands for America. What animal typifies Great Britain?
Johnny—I dunno.
Teacher—Oh, yes, you do! Think for a moment. It begins with "L."
Johnny (eagerly)—Lobster.

Hay in the Texas Cattle Country.

Hay is one of the chief products of the uncultivated lands, and enormous quantities are shipped from El Campo and other stations. The grasses are luxuriant and spontaneous and the yield large, the only expense being those of cutting, curing, baling and marketing. But hay farms are being cut up and sold to farmers who wish to practice a more intensive system and will soon be things of the past, superseded by corn, oats, cotton and other staples, says Farm and Ranch.

An exchange prints the following, which will be enjoyed by Republican girls:

Three girls who were riding bicycles stopped by the roadside to get a drink and rest. After drinking, one of them sprinkled some water on her wheel and said "I baptize thee in the name of McKinley, because you have made a good run." The second girl sprinkled her saddle with the remark, "I baptize thee in the name of Roosevelt, because you are a Rough Rider." The third girl sprinkled her tire and said, "I baptize you in the name of Bryan, because you are full of wind!"

When you have no appetite, do not relish your food and feel dull after eating you may need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at W. E. Warren & Co.'s drug store.

FARM AND GARDEN.

A HAYRACK.

A Knockdown Arrangement That Saves Heavy Handling.
The hayrack here presented was originally figured and described in the Ohio Farmer, the chief merit claimed being the convenience and ease with which it can be placed upon or removed from the wagon.

A A are the sills, 2 by 5 inches, of any good wood and of such length as desired, only if more than 14 feet they should be heavier. Two short pieces of the same size should be bolted edge-wise to the undersides of the sills at E E, where they rest on the wagon, and two cleats on the outside to fit snugly before and behind each bolster stake. Cut tenons 2 inches square and 2 1/2 inches long on the ends of the sills. Make the end pieces B B from the same sized timber and long enough to make the rack of suitable width. Cut mortises in these to fit the tenons on the sills and just far enough apart so that when in place the sills will fit snugly between the stakes. The crosspieces C C are 2 by 4 inches, of the same length as the end pieces, with a half inch notch in them to drop over the sills and a small cleat on top of the sill on each side of them to hold them in place. The boards D D are 10 inches wide and of the same length as the sills and lie flat on top. There should be a tenon cut on each end of these boards two inches narrower than the boards.

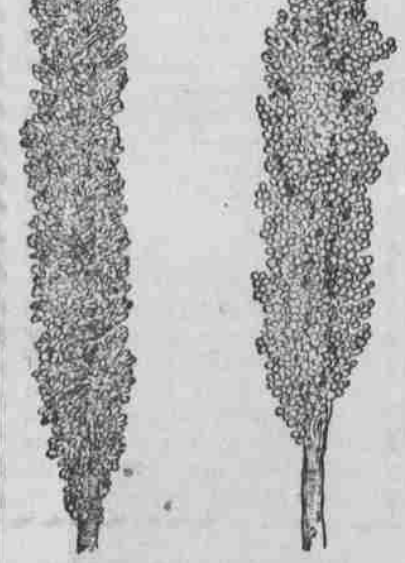

Now go to the blacksmith and have four staples made of three-eighth inch round iron of proper size to go over the tenons on the ends of the boards at F F and clinch on the undersides of the crosspieces B B. They should not be tight on the boards. Also have made four staples and four hooks and eye bolts as in Fig. 2. The nut on the eye bolt should have a crank, as shown in Fig. 2. Put the staple in the sill on the outside near the end and the eye bolt through the end piece at G in such a manner that when the nut is tightened on the bolt it will draw the hook tight in the staple. When the parts are all in place and the four nuts screwed tight, the rack is perfectly solid.

In order to suit wheels of different heights the blocks E E may be varied in width or blocks may be placed under the boards on the crosspieces B B and C C. Uprights may be placed at the ends by putting large staples in the sills at the corners of the frame, in which they may be inserted and removed at pleasure.

Any one using a rack of this pattern will never go back to the old fashioned back breaker. When you wish to remove it from the wagon, give the crank nuts one or two turns to loosen them, lift the hooks from the staples in the sills, slip the end pieces from the tenons, and the rack will lift off a piece at a time. When you wish to put it on, put the sills on first, then one end piece and fasten with hooks, then put on the two middle crosspieces, then the boards, placing the ends in the staples in the end crosspiece already on, then the other end piece may be slipped on all four of the tenons at once and fastened with the hooks.

Kaffir Corn.

A variety of Kaffir corn of which much has been heard of late is Lack bulled white Kaffir. The Kansas station recommends this and the red

VARIETIES OF KAFFIR CORN.

Kaffir and says: For seven years we raised the red. The black bulled white was then tested, and from 1896 to 1898 the two varieties were grown side by side, the red giving an average yearly yield of 37 bushels per acre and the black bulled white 43 bushels per acre. Kaffir corn heads very considerably in form and compactness. We prefer seed from long, closely compacted heads. Kaffir corn is a warm weather plant, makes a slow early growth and should not be planted until the ground becomes warm. We usually plant immediately after corn planting is completed.

Pen Timbales.

Mix one cupful of pen pulp with two beaten eggs, a few drops of onion juice, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two-thirds teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Turn into buttered mold and bake in a pan of hot water until firm. Serve with one cupful of white sauce, to which is added one-third cupful of peas drained from their liquor and thoroughly rinsed.
